qliqConnect from qliqSOFT

Dear Physicians & Clinical Staff,

We are pleased to announce that Columbus Regional Hospital and Schneck Medical Center have partnered with qliqSOFT to provide a secure/encrypted messaging application designed for sharing patient information with physician colleagues, office staff, Case Managers, UR staff, and other clinicians.

Further, we have added the Seymour users to the Columbus directory and added the Columbus users to the Seymour directory bringing the communities closer together.

qliqSoft's product, named qliqConnect, is compliant with all HIPAA and HITECH requirements for secure communication of Protected Health Information (PHI).

qliqConnect may be used on iPhones, iPads, Android devices and desktop computers. Similar to texting, users can instantaneously communicate with each another (reducing tedious voicemails and call backs), as well as send secure images (a wound, a rash, a radiograph, an EKG, etc.) and documents. Individual and group messaging is available. Users can also invite colleagues and create personal contact lists as well. All transmitted data is encrypted and secured and will only be available from within the application itself. Messages will be retained for 5 days before being archived / purged.

qliqConnect utilizes a Cloud Pass Thru Messaging process to protect PHI. qliqConnect provides acknowledgement and confirmation of message receipt and read status, and users may customize notifications such as sounds and vibration. Users can set available/away status as needed and make this information visible to other users.

While functioning in a very similar way to the native texting applications on your smart device, qliqConnect has a distinct look and feel, providing visual confirmation to users of the secured nature of their communication. Reference sites have verified that those who have been using this solution find it to be very user friendly and intuitive, thus reducing the need for much support other than password resets, etc.

Physicians - you will receive an invitation text message on your smartphone which contains all the information needed to install and activate the application on your device.

This is a very effective means of secure communication and hopefully you will find it convenient and your patients will benefit from increased coordination of care.
